Clear your mind, clear your heart, clear your inner space...

Introducing the *Clarion Clearing Benches

As a part of Clarion's commitment to well-being, and its ongoing commitment to addressing global challenges of the future--mainly, to restore our children's connection to nature and cultural values--Clarion leadership is excited to introduce the concept of the Clearing Bench to the UAE and to the Clarion community.

Clarion Clearing Benches are a symbol for the flow of human values, and a resource for nurturing the flow of values in our students, teachers and parents, for flow of energy, flow of peace, flow of love, flow of kindness, flow of compassion, flow of joy, flow of connection, and flow of creativity, both for collective flow in our community, and individual flow in mind, body and heart.

Energized with NADI-Copper Technology, our five Clarion Clearing Benches will emit pure vibrations of nature, which can also charge regular drinking water when held in the area of vibrations for several minutes. Taking a few sips of this naturally energized water allows it to meet every water molecule in the body, returning the body to its original flow. Nadi is an Ancient Sanskrit word that can be translated as "tube," "channel" or "flow." It refers to the network of channels through which energy travels throughout the body.

Outcomes of NADI energized-water include connection to a higher level of brain, a peaceful environment, improved cognitive abilities, deeper connection to human values, flow of unity and love, a greater shift towards humanity, maintenance of traditional values and faith governed by universal energy, and creation of resilience, integrity and future-readiness. Nadi water is validated by several scientists, including Internationally renowned Water Scientist Gerald Pollack (University of Washington, U.S.A) and Psychologist and Mental Health Counselor and Professor, Dr. Rob Rice (St. John University, NY).

Nadi-Copper Technology is open-source, and can be found all over the world, from South Africa, to India, to the U.S, including Sydenham Medical Center in Houston, and also the Redwood Forest in California. Also thanks to Dr. Deep Singh, International pioneer of NADI for human development and invited Guest Lecturer at Harvard University, Nadi-Copper Technology has recently been included in the Government of India's Public Health and Education Policy for 2022 to 2047, aimed at 1.4 billion people, which includes 1.5 million schools, 10 million teachers, and 260 Million students. Dr. Deep is from Varanasi, India, and comes from a long line of healers who believe in selfless service and collective action for the upliftment of humanity.

The inauguration of the Clarion Clearing Benches will be led by its founder Ms. Aparna Verma, and will also be graced by the presence of Dr. Deep Singh himself, on Friday, October 7, 2022 at 8.30 am.
